

We might know more about Caesar's Camp were it not for the activities of John Samuel Sawbridge Erle Drax MP. He permitted the ramparts of Caesar's Camp to be levelled in 1875, as part of a development scheme which, if completed, would have seen houses built on the site. The Drax family fortune came in part from a sugar plantation in Barbados, which was worked by enslaved people.